Mr. Simpson was killed in an airplane crash over Newfoundland on June 23, 1978. Minden Recreation Committee cancels Oct. 7 rock concert

The 8th meeting of the Minden Recreation Committee was held last week in the municipal building with everyone present. The first item of the agenda was the rock concerts that have been staged at the centre this suffer.

Minden OPP Constables Chapman and Foran were in attendance, and advised the committee of the incidents that took place at the centre on Sun., Sept. 2nd, 1979. The OPP are concerned for the safety of the force as well as the innocent people who could be involved in the event that a serious outbreak should occur. There is no additional OPP manpower available to staff the concert therefore they requested the concerts be cancelled.

Stuart Brandon agreed to contact the promoter with the committee's decision. If a problem resulted he was directed to contact the Township's solicitor for a legal opinion on the matter.

A motion was carried that the committe recommend to council that assistant arena manager, Phil Nicholls be allowed a bonus in consideration of his additional hours that were required in the absence of arena manager Brian Sisson and the added responsibility he assumed as a result thereof.

A motion from Ken Bannon and Norm Harrison that a recommendation be made to council that additional part time help be considered to improve this committee's records. And further, that this committe agrees if necessary to absorb a portion of the increased costs involved. Carried.

Turkey shoot this weekend

The Haliburton County Marksmen Club announced their fall program at their newly approved shooting range and the main event for fall in which the public are most cordially welcome is the "Grand County Turkey Shoot" to be held on Sunday, Sept. 30th at 2:00 pm.

The events will include 22 rifle and high power rifle, using any type of sight including telescope, trap shoot, and for the first time, hand guns. Shooters are to bring their own ammunition and they are reminded to obtain permits to convey hand guns.

The range has been levelled by McKnights Haulage and a great deal of praise should be given to the operator, Arnold Walker.

A clubhouse donated by Dr. John Purc, will be moved to the range at the beginning of October. This will provide a much needed shelter as well as a storage and meeting place.

Several persons have been holding applications for memberships, pending the decision of the Attorney General's office on the approval of the range for handguns, we welcome these members to process their applications and join with us in building a club to be proud of.

Included in the fall program will be a lot of practising and classification shoots to decide which classification a member should be in.

The program through the winter will be decided at a later date, and suggestions for programs are being welcomed by the executive. Such things as firearm safety, the proper maintenance and caring for guns, possibly informative films could be part of the program. In summary, the range is ready and approved, the Grand County Turkey Shoot kicks off this weekend and the Club is off and away.

'79 Migratory Bird Regulations

OTTAWA—1979 Migratory Birds Regulations for Ontario were released today by the Canadian Wildlife Service Environment Canada.

Season dates for hunting ducks, rails, coots, gallinules and snipe in the Hudson Bay and Northern District remain the same as last year. Opening day in the Southern Districts I and II has been delayed one week to Sept. 29 and in the Lake St. Francis District delayed until Sept. 22. Bag and possession limits on ducks have been increased to 6 and 12 respectively.

The season on geese remains closed in portions of Mono Township in Dufferin County, portions of Camden East Township in Lennox and Addington County, portions of Norfolk Township in the regional municipality of Haldimand - Norfolk, and in the Wye Marsh Wildlife Management Area in Tay Township, Simcoe County. The goose hunting season is the same as for ducks except in Southern District II where it opens Oct. 15 and closes Nov. 11.

Once again, there is no open season on migratory game birds in that part of the township of Norfolk known as the Big Creek National Wildlife Area or in portions of the township of Dover West, Kent County.

All hunters except Indians and Inuit require a migratory game bird hunting permit. This is sold for $3.50 at post offices throughout the province. Post offices also display posters outlining the migratory birds regulations and distribute abstracts of these regulations.

The Canadian Wildlife Service asks hunters to keep careful records of their daily bag on the card attached to the permit. This information will help hunters complete the harvest survey questionnaire which some of them will receive later this year. The Canadian Wildlife Service uses data from the questionnaire to set bag and possession limits and season dates for next year.

The 1978 harvest survey indicated 151,500 licensed Ontario hunters bagged 943,200 ducks and 64,600 geese.

Ministry objects to Stanhope Township zoning by-law

An Ontario Municipal Board hearing will convene Monday to hear objections to Stanhope Township By-law 78-23, a by-law to amend the township's comprehensive zoning By-law 77-15.

Some eight objectors are expected to present their arguments before the board, including the Ministry of Housing. The provision in the revised by-law which is drawing the Ministry's objections is one allowing the construction of permanent residential dwellings on private right-of-ways.

By-law 77-15, which received Ontario Municipal Board approval, allowed permanent dwellings in shoreline residential zones, even if they were serviced only by private roads. (Stanhope is one of only a very few municipalities in the province whose zoning by-laws permit the conversion of cottages to permanent residences in such areas). The 1977 by-law made no provision for such construction or conversion in rural residential zones serviced by private roads however, and it was to correct the oversight that the amending by-law, 78-23, was drafted.

The hearing opens at 1 p.m. and is expected to hold only one sitting. A decision on the Ministry of Housing objection is not expected to be made at the hearing, but will likely be forwarded to council at a later date.

A Difficult State of Affairs

By W. Roger Worth

When governments get involved in areas of the economy normally handled by private entrepreneurs, funny (and not so funny) things have a way of happening.

Consider the plight of beleaguered restaurant, bar and hotel operators in tiny Prince Edward Island, a province where tourism is the mainstay of the local economy.

It appears P.E.I.'s Liquor Control Commission has difficulty handling even the simplest of tasks, such as maintaining stocks of the limited number of wines listed by the government-operated facility.

Fallout from that situation naturally presents very real problems, particularly for the smaller restaurants and hotels that can't afford to carry large inventories.

Roger Worth is Director, Public Affairs, Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

"The liquor commission always seems to be out of stock of the most popular brands on our wine lists," says an irate restaurant operator. "It creates havoc in the dining room."

Customers, of course, blame restaurant management when wines aren't available. In addition, shortages sometimes necessitate costly reprinting of wine lists.

In normal business circumstances, restauranteurs would simply change suppliers, but such is not the case when the government is the only source of alcoholic beverages.

Further, it becomes difficult for restaurant operators to complain, given the fact that the same liquor commission enforces all rules and regulations for licensed premises.

"It's a Catch-22," says a bar manager. "We can't complain about the wine problem because we're afraid of being hassled by liquor commission inspectors."

An unhealthy situation indeed.

The wine difficulties in Prince Edward Island are not unlike situations in other provinces and sectors of the economy where the government has its finger in the private-enterprise pie.

And business people, especially smaller entrepreneurs with little clout, are many times forced to live with the status quo. Not a pretty state of affairs at all.

Help for elderly coming soon

Representatives from all parts of Haliburton County met at the Health Unit on Friday to organize support services for the elderly of the county.

A committee under the direction of Mrs. Doris McCann of Kennisis Lake has studied the problems of the elder and disabled people who would have to consider a nursing home yet they are able and wish to remain in their own homes if they have someone who can give them help with such things as grocery shopping, a drive to the doctor's office, snow removal a hot meal, library books, etc. The committee found many in this county in these circumstances, they found also that some groups are already doing a great deal in this direction and they found that there are people, some newly retired, who have the time and desire to be helpful in this way.

Alan Cavell, area consultant for the Ministry of Community and Social Services told the meeting that his department is particularly interested in this kind of arrangement and will provide some financial assistance for such an organization.

Services for the elderly may begin in the West Guilford-Eagle Lake areas and then continue over the rest of Haliburton County.

Stanhope generous

On a per capita basis, Stanhope Township is more generous than the City of Toronto, at least when it comes to donations to disaster relief funds.

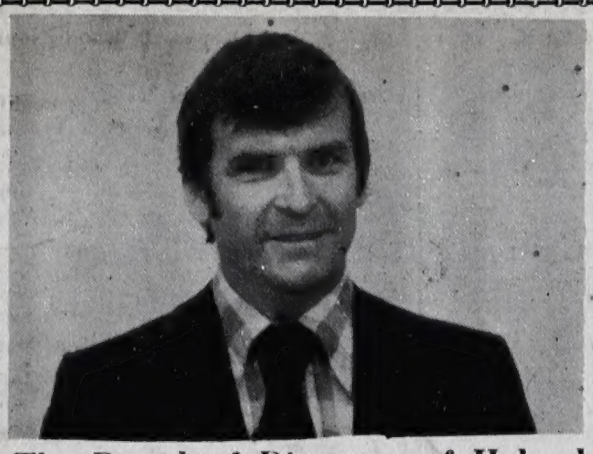
The point was made by Deputy-Reeve Elgin Stouffer last Wednesday as council decided to donate $50 to both the Nepean Disaster Relief Fund, and a fund for victims of the tornado which ravaged Brant, Oxford, Haldimand and Norfolk Counties earlier this summer.

The letter from the tornado relief group requesting a donation noted that the City of Toronto got the fund off the ground with a donation of $50,000, and asked other municipalities to follow the city's example.

On a per capita basis, Deputy-Reeve Stouffer said, Toronto's donation amounted to about 2½ cents per citizen. Using the same formula, Stanhope's approximately 600 permanent residents would provide the fund with $15.

But council decided that $50 would be more appropriate, and will send that amount to both funds. Stouffer jokingly suggested that the letter accompanying the donation should point out the greater per capita generosity of Stanhope.

The province will triple each donation from its own coffers.



The Board of Directors of Hyland Lumber Limited is pleased to announce the appointment of Bruce Bounsall as General Manager of the companies retail operations. Mr. Bounsall's past experience in the retailing lumber and building materials will be a definite asset to support the companies future growth; he is a lifelong resident of Haliburton Cty.

BLAIRHAMPTON — On Wednesday afternoon at Blairhampton Golf Club the third annual Greater Minden Local Yokals Invitational golf tournament was held. Above, left to right are Labatt's Breweries rep. Cliff Burke wins Local Yokals, To mBoice takes low net

BLAIRHAMPTON — Every year at this time one of the fun golf tournaments in Haliburton is played at Dave Shyler's Blairhampton Golf Club. It is a nine-hole tournament and is known as the Greater Minden "Local Yokals" invitational tournament. There are no losers and everyone wins something — a gag prize, a trophy or maybe a "50" glass by sponsor, Labatt's Breweries.

This year, 41 local yokals took part on Wednesday afternoon, making it the most successful tournament in the three years it has been played. This year's low gross winner was Cliff Burke with a 76. Low net winner was Tom Boice after he won a playoff will Bill Payne. Both tied for second with 88's.

Some other winners were Jerry Pillsworth, best dressed golfer; Simon Fraser, furthest golfer from home; best sport, Bob Taylor, most frustrated golfer, J. O. Leigh Bull captures LaRue Open, Stevens gets low net

HALIBURTON — The third annual LaRue Open golf tournament took place on Sunday at Blairhampton Golf Club with 22 employees and invited guests taking part.

At the conclusion of the 18 hole course, Leigh bull of Iingoldsby was the low gross winner, scoring 75 on the well laid out course. Owner Dave Shyler had the pin placements on every hole playing real tough and three-putt greens were the norm rather than the exception.

Low net winner was Dave Stevens of Minden with 72. Second low net, also with a 72 was Dick Davies and third low went to Ted Ashton.

Runner-up in the low gross category went to Ken Rosenberg of Haliburton with 77 while third place went to sponsor, Scotty LaRue with 79.

The Most Honest Golfer in the tournament went to Terry Barnum with 121, just edging out last year's winner, Rick Danilko by one stroke. Longest drive winner was Ken Rosenberg and closest to the pin went to Ted Ashton.

After the major awards were handed out, 22 names were then placed in a hat and pulled one at a time. When a name was pulled that person then drew a number from another hat which corresponded with a beautiful merchandise prize, compliments of many local merchants.

CHEVROLET CAPRICE CLASSIC SEDAN — offers an all-new smooth, aerodynamic look for 1980. New egg-crate grille pattern accentuates the front, and the side view features a more upright quarter-panel, following the styling trend popularized by the Monte Carlo. New rear treatment utilizes operational centre lamp, and a new removable body panel permits taillamp bulb replacement without disturbing exterior seals. New V6 engine and torque converter clutch systems are among several fuel-efficient engineering features. The station wagon has an optional 120-horsepower diesel engine.

The 1980 Chevrolets

OSHAWA, Ont. - A 1980 Caprice Classic with improved fuel economy ... A 1980 Corvette, about 112.5 kg (250 lbs.) lighter, incorporating a new award-winning fibreglass bumper system ... A 1980 Chevette with a new level of occupant safety ...

"Those are just three of many reasons we're so excited about 1980," said F. Alan Smith, GM of Canada President.

"Our entire 1980 lineup, including the Citation, our first car of the '80s, is representative of the new thinking, new technologies, new shapes that add up to a new level of value for our customers.

"Value has always been our watchword. But never more than today. Our customers demand it. The times demand it. And our 1980 models deliver it. Our goal has been to provide our '80 Chevrolet owners an opportunity to get greater fuel economy without giving up ride, comfort or performance. We're pleased with the results."

To achieve that goal, the Chevrolet engineering effort centred on:

- A new compact V6 engine.
- A new diesel-powered full-size station wagon.
- New more-aerodynamic shapes.
- New high-pressure, easy-roll radial tires.
- New more-efficient power trains.

The new V6, a 3.8 litre engine, is standard for Caprice Classic, Impala, and Bel Air sedans and coupes, plus Camaro, Monte Carlo and Malibu/Malibu Classic lines.

The new V6 replaces the standard 4.1 litre in-line six in Caprice Classic, Impala, Bel Air, and Camaro models. It replaces the 3.3 litre V6 that was standard last year in the Monte Carlo, Malibu and Malibu Classic.

Cylinder diameters, compression ratio, inlet and exhaust valve sizes are identical to Chevrolet's celebrated small-block 5.0 litre V8. Compression ratio is 8.6:1.

A new inlet manifold provides improved breathing at the upper end of the engine's rpm range. Centrally-located spark plugs produce more uniform and complete burning of the fuel-air mixture.

A torque converter clutch system is standard on most automatic transmissions. In "drive" range, the clutch disc locks the converter to the output shaft, eliminating slippage and saving energy.

The torque converter is part of the automatic transmission on the following:

- All full-size Chevrolets
- All Corvettes
- All Monte Carlos, Malibus and Malibu Classics with either 3.8 litre or 5.0 litre Chevrolet engines.
- All 3.8 litre Camaros.

Caprice Classic, Impala, and Bel Air models ... still fresh from a successful resizing in 1977, undergo a technological overhaul. New features are these:

- The new V6 engine.
- The new torque converter clutch.
- New more-aerodynamic exterior.
- Lighter transmission support and exhaust system.
- Lighter, high-efficiency radiator.
- Higher tire pressures (35-PSI).

Riding comfort is maintained with improved shock absorbers, lower-friction ball joints and larger front suspension bushings.

Sheet metal is smoother, sleeker to reduce wind drag. A lower front profile and a slight lip on the trailing edge of the rear deck are also factors in a 10 percent reduction of the aerodynamic drag coefficient (from .500 to .450) on sedans and coupes.

The combination of improved aerodynamics and reduced tire rolling resistance produces a vehicle that coasts 30 percent farther in GM tests than the same-size '79 model.

Vehicle weight savings over last year amount to between 45 and 63 kg (100 and 140 lbs.) depending on power train selection. In addition to the standard V6, 4.4 litre and 5.0 litre V8s are available in sedans and coupes.

Standard engine in Caprice, Impala, and Bel Air station wagons is the 4.4 litre V8. The new 5.7 litre diesel is optional. It is similar to the diesel now available in the Chevrolet C-10 pickup and in some Cadillac and Oldsmobile models. The engine produces 120 horsepower and upwards to 25 percent better fuel economy than the same size gasoline engine.

Corvette ... about 112 kg (250 lbs.) lighter, features aerodynamic air dam and spoiler integrated into the front and rear bumper covers. Weight savings result from selective use of lower-density, lighter body and chassis components. The award-winning (most innovative use of plastic in a 1980 car: Society of Plastics Industries) new front bumper system uses a honeycomb cushion and glass-reinforced plastic impact bar and selected supports. The rear bumper design incorporates spoiler, mini-shock absorbers, aluminum impact bar, honeycomb cushion and new cover.

The 5.7 litre L48 and L82 V8 engines remain available in 1980 Corvettes.

The 4-speed manual transmission has wider gear ratios, which makes possible a lower, more fuel-efficient axle ratio without sacrificing performance.

Other new Corvette features:

- A lighter rear axle design and support utilizing an aluminum differential housing.
- A more efficient exhaust system.
- Selected aluminum heat shields.

Chevette's ... major rear-end design change produces aerodynamic benefits from an improved air flow pattern. The hatch is repitched, more upright. Rear quarter panels are redesigned, integrating new wraparound taillamps. Hatch glass is flush-mounted and urethane-bonded.

Other changes include a new braking system which requires less braking effort. The system has a new proportioning valve, semi-metallic front brake outerpads, large brake pistons. It features dual servo rear brakes.

New optional steel-belted radial tires give about 25 percent better wearlife.

Camaro ... features the new standard Chevy V6. The 4.4 litre V8 and 5.0 litre V8 are available. Manual and automatic transmissions are offered with the V6 and 5.0 litre V8. Only an automatic is available with the 4.4 litre V8.

The 5.7 litre V8 remains standard on the Z28, which also features a functional hood scoop and front fender engine air extractors.

Monte Carlo ... receives the new 3.8 litre Chevy V6 as standard equipment along with automatic transmission, power brakes and power steering. High-intensity halogen headlamps are available.

Also available is a 3.8 litre turbocharged engine that boasts an estimated 170 horsepower at maximum boost.

Providing power on demand, the turbocharger consists of an exhaust gas-driven turbine coupled to a compressor in the intake system. As engine speed and load increase, exhaust gas spins the turbine, which drives the compressor, which forces a dense air/fuel mixture into the combustion chamber. The result - more power per piston stroke.

The turbocharged Monte Carlo has a special hood with raised rear centre pod and specific "turbo" identification.

Malibu and Malibu Classic ... also get a new 3.8 litre V6 as standard equipment, replacing the 3.3 litre standard engine in 1979.

Also available are 4.4 litre and 5.0 litre V8 with a 3-speed manual transmission as standard.

Monza ... power choices are simplified with two engines and two transmissions offered. Continuing standard power is the 2.5 litre four-cylinder. A 3.8 litre V6 is optional.

Citation ... receives running changes that make deluxe seat belts and day/night rear-view mirrors standard equipment. New options include wire wheel covers for all models.

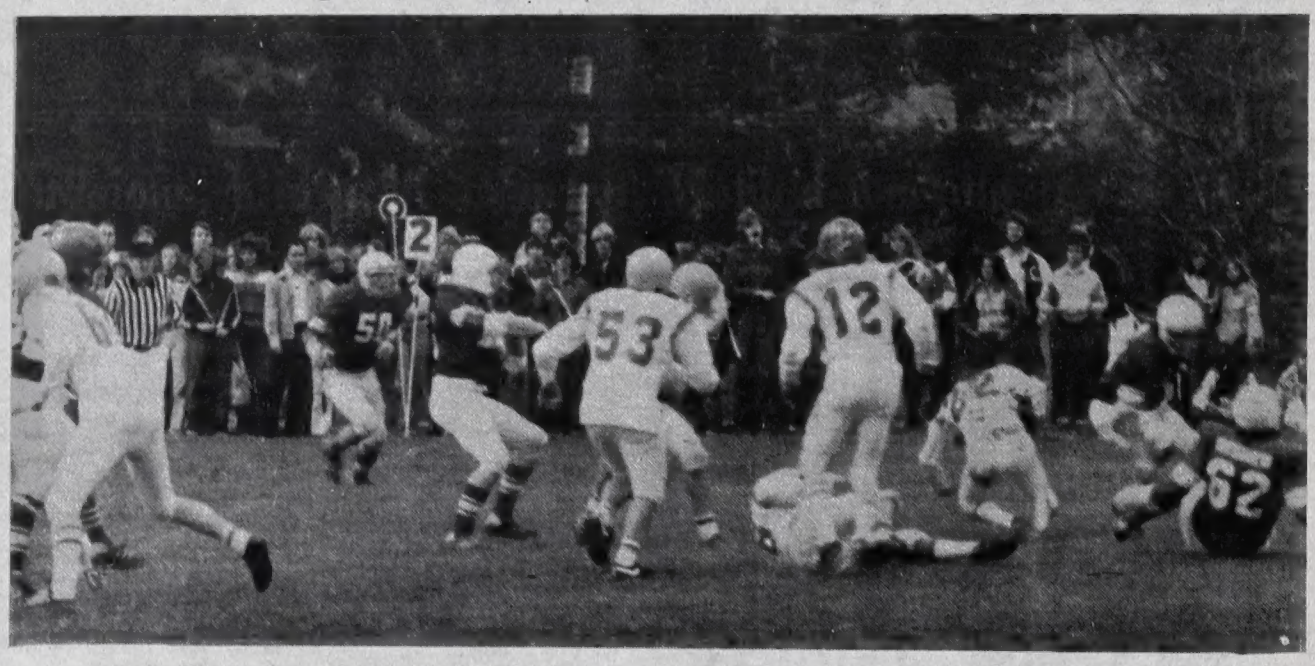
QB Tim Davies outstanding

Redmen impressive in opener beat Brock 15-1



Brock Quarterback (No. 22) is tripped up by No. 62 of Redmen.

Cheerleaders take a break during the Haliburton Redmen's 15-1 triumph over the Brock Bulldogs.

No. 55, Steve Davies returns to the huddle after scoring Redmen's second TD.

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen football team picked right up where they left off last year, when they won it all, by trouncing the Brock Bulldogs of Cannington 15-1 Thursday afternoon in Haliburton.

The Redmen spotted the Bulldogs a 40 mph wind in the first and third quarters but the Brock bunch could muster no more than a 60 yard single in the first stanza.

With the sidelines jammed by students and parents alike, the Redmen took the game away from Brock once they got the wind in the second quarter. Halfback Butch Manary took a handoff from quarter back Tim Davies at the four minute mark of the quarter and scampered 25 yards for the Redmen's first major. Davies attempted a convert via the pass to Shawn Chapman in the end zone but a great pass rush by Brock saw the ball fall incomplete. Score 6-1.

With five minutes left in the quarter, the Brock centre snapped the ball from his own 15 yard line back to his punter and it sailed over his head into the end zone for a safety touch. Haliburton 8, Brock1

Then with time running out in the half, Davies threw a perfect strike to Dave Pratt who appeared to go the distance for a touchdown but the officials ruled he was down at the one yard line. Two plays later Steve Davies took a handoff, went around the right side of his offensive line and scored standing up. The convert was missed again. Hal. 14, Brock 1.

The second half was played pretty well by both teams in the centre of the field, with just one point scored and that by Haliburton on a wide field goal attempt from the 40 yard line by Davies. The final score ended up 15-1.

The Redmen's next big test will be Tuesday afternoon when they will tangle with the always-tough Fenelon Falls Falcons. In the junior varsity game last Thursday, Haliburton lost a tough one 21-18 to Brock.
